

American Association of University Women AAUW Austin (Texas) Branch

"Celebrate endings-- for they precede new beginnings." *

As we celebrate the conclusion of a very successful 2013-2014, we are indeed making auspicious new beginnings at our May 17th Branch meeting. You don't want to miss:

- * UT Fellowship Chair Joyce Pulich will introduce the six 2014 winners (pp.3-4), and at least four of them will be present to share their dissertation topic and the research they doing to earn their doctoral degrees.
- * AAUW Funds Chair Elaine Diefenderfer will recognize the members who have been honored by the Austin Branch with a Named Gift of $500 to the Education Foundation for specific funds. That number also happens to be six.
- * Hospitality Committee member Larrie Amsler will honor four recently deceased Branch members with memorial books to Austin Public Library.
- * The officers elected at the April meeting to serve for next year (p. 6) will be installed.
- * This is an opportunity to recall some significant milestones from the past year including the Branch's ninetieth birthday celebration and a steady increase in our membership over the year. Perhaps we will also have an opportunity to congratulate some of our honorary members (p. 6) on their fifty or more years of AAUW membership.

This last meeting before our summer break will be held at the Wyndham Garden Hotel located at 3401 South I-35; Austin 78741. Parking is usually abundant, but carpooling does cut down on pollution and gasoline usage plus it is just more friendly! The meeting begins at 10 a.m., and lunch will be finished by about 1 p.m.

The luncheon entrée is grilled tilapia with mango chutney, couscous, and seasonal fresh vegetables. It will be served with a house or caesar salad, rolls and butter, dessert, iced tea, regular and decaffeinated coffee, and hot tea. The cost is $25.00, and a check or the exact cash will be greatly appreciated. Making your reservation promptly will also be greatly appreciated!

Don't put off another minute what you can do right now! To make your reservation for the May 17th meeting, please call

Diane Brewer at

THANKS! FROM BRANCH PRESIDENT ANITA KNIGHT

THANKS to AAUW Members and Volunteers! The AAUW national staff saluted YOU during the last week of March, which was designated as Member and Volunteer Appreciation Week! Now it's my turn.

THANKS for our members who have renewed and sent in branch surveys to date.

THANKS for a great turnout at the April meeting at University of Phoenix Austin campus. If you did not attend, you missed a recognition and celebration of our branch Mission in Action, THANKS in large part to Lilac Bauer. Diane Brewer notes that numbers at regular meetings have been steadily climbing, so THANKS to the program and hospitality committee.

The May meeting will recognize and celebrate the lives of four recently deceased members (THANKS to Larrie Amsler), honor our SIX new UT Fellows (THANKS to Joyce Pulich and her UT Fellowship selection committee), and launch your new elected officers for 2014-15 (THANKS to Marsha Endahl Kramer and the nominating committee).

If you did not attend the YOGAWOMAN film premiere and branch fundraiser for the Ann Richards American Fellowship Fund, you can still contribute to that open endowment.

THANKS to the TUGG FUNdraising committee for scheduling and executing that event on behalf of this fund. When you hear from our local and/or national AAUW fellows, like at our May meetings, you will agree with the 1981 State Convention diarist that the Educational Opportunities Fund (formerly the Educational Foundation) comes alive. An International EF Fellow Gina Conti from Peru reported at that convention in 1981 that AAUW was the only source of grants that considers the woman as a whole and we donors put our "faith in the universality of the world."

My list of THANKS may not be complete, but let me not forget our newsletter editor and proofreader, Mary Ellen Scribner and Sylvia Gregory, respectively. Who will now volunteer to help Mary Ellen and move into her creative shoes?

2014 BRANCH FELLOWSHIP RECIPIENTS

Thirty-seven doctoral candidates from a broad range of disciplines at the University of Texas submitted applications for the AAUW fellowships for the coming academic year. The strength of their applications, statements, references, and academic credentials made the choice difficult. After careful consideration, the scholarship committee selected the following six women to receive awards of $2,500 each.

Roanne Kantor plans to complete her Ph.D. in Comparative Literature (English, Spanish, Hindi, Urdu) in May 2015. Her dissertation, "Cartographies of Engagement" compares the parallel journeys and partial solidarities of Latin American and South Asian authors in the twentieth century. Her work traces Chilean poet Pablo Neruda's years of isolation in India, Burma, and Ceylon and Mexican poet Octavio Paz's diplomatic career in Delhi along with other examples of parallels. Among her proudest achievements, she lists mentoring female graduate students and conducting field research in rural Chile and rural India. Following graduation she plans on becoming a professor at a public university.

JuHee Lee is a citizen of South Korea majoring in Curriculum and Instruction (Foreign Language Education Program). Her dissertation entitled "Exploring Interdependence of Second Language Skills: Effects of Extensive Reading and Extensive Writing on Language Development for Adolescent English Learners" explores the relative effects of three types of foreign language instruction. Prior to attending graduate school, she worked as a middle school teacher for six years in Korea. While teaching she wrote eight English textbooks and served as a nationwide TV English instructor. After earning her degree in spring 2015, she wants to become a professor who educates foreign language teachers and a researcher who studies adolescent language learning.

Esther Sullivan is a doctoral candidate in Sociology with special interests in poverty, inequality and housing. These interests led to her dissertation topic "Halfway Homeowners: A Geospatial and Ethnographic Analysis of Forced Relocation in Mobile Home Parks." Her research involved living in mobile home parks before residents received eviction notices so her ethnographic data captures the residents' actions and strategies during the eviction process. She is one of nine children raised by working class parents who relied on social services such as food stamps and housing subsidies. Her greatest achievement is serving as mentor to underprivileged and underrepresented college students through the federal McNair Scholars Program and the university's Intellectual Entrepreneurship program. Following her projected degree completion in spring 2015, she wants to obtain a teaching and research position at the university level where she will continue to work with first generation college students and groups underrepresented in higher education.

Valerie Martinez's interest in Twentieth Century U.S. History/Mexican American studies led to her dissertation "The Benito Juarez Squadron: An Evaluation of Pan Americanism and Latina Servicewomen during World War II." She explores the recruitment of two hundred Latinas to work in various positions in airfields in Texas and across the nation during the war. Her greatest achievements involve service to her family. She encouraged and helped her mother study to earn her bachelor's degree which she achieved in 2009. She is helping her paternal grandmother write her autobiography documenting her journey from Mexico to Texas and the discrimination she experienced as an undocumented farm worker. Valerie plans on completing her doctorate in May 2015 and fulfilling her childhood dream of becoming a female Mexican American professor at the university level.

Prior to attending Columbia University, Jennifer Scott worked in Peru as a research assistant for a local NGO, earning $200 per month. This experience combined with her current job with the Workers' Defense Project and previous work with poor women and families led to her dissertation entitled "Working on the Margins: Latino Immigrants, Citizenship, and Low Wage Labor in Texas." Her research focuses on how low wage earning Latino immigrant and undocumented families in Texas get by on low wage work by mobilizing social support systems. Following graduation in May 2015, Jennifer will seek a tenure track social work faculty position at the university level and conduct research on poverty and workforce issues. Her greatest achievements include achieving fluency in conversational Spanish, being the first in her family to earn a master's degree, and leading a research project that created a report that will serve as a tool to improve working conditions for Texas workers.

Jennifer Shapland is literature of place and dissertation topic Environment in spaces such as displacement and topographies at and queer authors to write their own May 2016. Her graduate being named a 2013 literature that investigates a a doctoral candidate in English contemporary environment which is directly related to her "Narrative Salvage: Repurposing Material, Place and Contemporary Literature." Her work analyzes volatile postindustrial junkyards in Detroit, Gulf Coast zones of neglect, receding Arctic ice caps and toxic desert Nevada test sites. Her analysis focuses on feminist and female protagonists who repurpose materials stories. Jennifer plans to complete her Ph.D. by three greatest achievements include completing a internship at the Harry Ransom Center and prize winning finalist in the UT Keene Prize for competition for an essay called "Finders, Keepers" major theft at the Ransom Center.

The Austin Chapter of AAUW is justly proud to provide contributions to the important research efforts of the 2014-2015 fellowship recipients.

MEMBERSHIP NEWS WITH DIANE BREWER

As of April 20, 2014, FIFTY-TWO of you wonderful members have already renewed your 2014-2015 memberships! Incredibly helpful and incredibly appreciated! Many of you also remembered to complete the survey and to donate to our multiple funds such as the Legal Advocacy Fund, which is there to assist women unfairly treated in the workplace; the Eleanor Roosevelt Fund, the Public Policy Fund, the Ann Richards American Fellowship Fund, for which we just made a nice donation thanks to Elaine Diefenderfer, Funds Chair, and her work with Anita Knight, Marsha Endahl Kramer, and Mary Ellen Scribner promoting our April fundraiser for Ann Richards, the TUGG showing of "Yoga Woman." Many of you also donated to Girlstart, Mainspring Schools, and/or Latinitas, all of which help young girls, and our BRANCH! We have not raised dues in quite a while, so donations which assist us with branch expenses are terrific.

With a membership so large, 189 at last count, the membership renewal process takes a while. Thanks to those who attended the last branch meeting and renewed! At any time, you also can send in your dues and form to me, Diane Brewer, 910 Dartmoor Drive, Austin, TX 78746. Checks should be made out to AAUW Austin. Call me at 512.328.0474 if you need help or information. (Ed. note: For your convenience the membership renewal is included once again this month—page 9.)

And speaking of the last Branch meeting, we should all be so proud! With our association's strong emphasis on promoting girls to STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) careers, a group of AAUW moms, Janani Janakiraman, Ranjani Vaidyanathan, and Seetha Mahadevan (I like to call STEM in Action), brought their beautiful and accomplished daughters to present their lauded Voting Rights Act panel. These four girls, Priya and Kavya Ramamoorthy, Maanasa Nathan, and Smrithi Mahadevan, walked into the meeting demure and reserved, took their seats. Then, when program coordinator Lilac Bauer introduced them, four lionesses stood up to address their appreciative audience at the University of Phoenix.

At sixteen years of age, their passion for civil rights, their poise, eye contact, vocal skills, confidence, and control of their information which included excellent visuals on the overhead, blew us all away. They were a tough act to follow! Because of the excitement they generated, a palpable energy coursed through the room! We all knew we were witness to something special. Then hardworking Rudi Andrus and teacher Jennifer Garcia rose to talk about the work of Mainspring Schools and the challenges they face. Jennifer and another teacher benefited from an AAUW scholarship this past spring which enabled them to attend an important early childhood conference. Finally, we heard dedicated Laura Donnelly-Gonzalez who is inspiring young Latinas with Latinitas, its publications and other projects they do.

We strongly support these efforts locally, many of us donate, and our impassioned liaison Lilac Bauer and many of YOU volunteer your time in these areas. You can be proud you do! Betty Owen works with Mainspring Schools as our representative and gives and gives and gives, as does tireless Lilac. Encouraging the young is time very well spent. Thanks to all of you who share your lives in this way.

New member Freda Bryson also rose to speak at the meeting about her desire to start a new branch of AAUW in San Marcos, where she is working on her doctorate in women's issues. Ah, brave new world! San Marcos and Texas State University are GROWING. It is expansion time for AAUW!

In other membership news, beautiful young Leslie Canter, one of our newer members who first introduced us to TUGG, recently (pun warning!) cantered to THIRD Place in the Capital 10,000 race!! Though she has moved on from TUGG, we are grateful for the information she shared with us and also for her recent place at the top of her division in the race. Congratulations, Leslie!

Newsletter editor Mary Ellen Scribner says this is the last newsletter until August 2014, when we start up the new member year. Most of our activities take a break during summer, so looking ahead:

1. Mark your calendars for the next Branch Meeting to be held Saturday, May 17 at the Wyndham Garden Hotel where we will install officers, and most importantly, hear the presentations of this year's fellows. I love this meeting! It is thrilling to hear bright ideas for the future in these presentations. Joyce Pulich and her committee chose these young women from around 35 who submitted their doctoral projects.
2. TADA! MEMBERSHIP OPEN HOUSE, SUNDAY, AUGUST 17th from 3 to 5 p.m., at St. Mark's Episcopal Church parish hall, 2128 Barton Hills Drive, not far from Zilker Park and the bustling South Lamar area. For those who missed this opportunity in previous years, this is a gathering where we reboot the year, learn about all the different interest groups and volunteer opportunities. We have refreshments and fun! Bring your friends who just might want to know more about our fabulous organization.

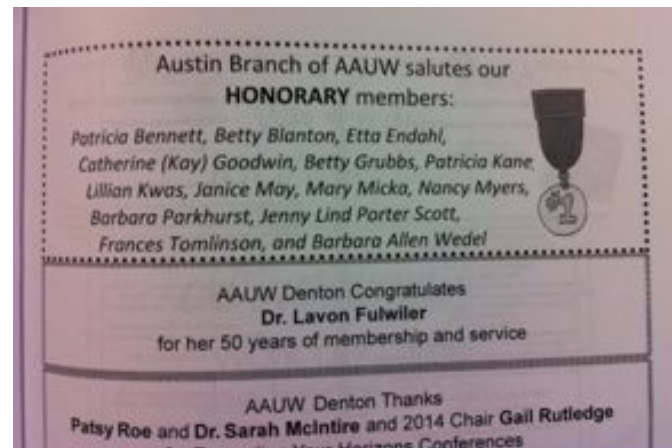

Have a wonderful, safe summer! If you travel, enjoy and come home refreshed, and stay well. Send in those membership renewals! Thanks so much!!

KEEPING THE BRANCH ARCHIVES IN MIND

Please keep in mind the AAUW Austin Branch archives as you prepare for a new association year. This is especially aimed at those leaving a position. Please evaluate the materials in your files, deciding what should be sent to your successor and what should be sent to the archives.

General Guidelines:

- * The archives, held at the Austin History Center, are meant to serve as a history of our branch and should allow us, and others, to look back to find information on our local activities and membership.
- * Materials sent to the archives are still accessible though they no longer belong to us.
- * Keep on hand the files needed for normal business. In a time of easily duplicated electronic files, it is possible to keep copies on hand and to send copies to the archives; I need to stress the part about sending copies to be preserved.
- * The archives is a print-preferred operation, so materials for the archives need to be printed out.
- * As part of normal membership, I have already received the directory and issues of the news-letters, but I do not have complete files of materials such as minutes.
- * I am glad to go through files if you are not sure about desirability for retention.

What to Preserve (by Sending to the Archives):

- * Local AAUW publications (the yearbook and newsletter, for example)) and also flyers and information sheets prepared locally for our members.
- * Financial records.
- * Reports from officers and committees.
- * Membership records.
- * Photographs of branch activities and people.
- * Branch correspondence.

What is Normally Not Needed for the Archives:

- * Drafts preceding a final version.
- * Notes used to prepare minutes.
- * Materials from other organizations or other parts of AAUW (national, state, and other branches); these are expected to be maintained in their archives.
- * Checkbooks and invoices.

Getting Materials to the Archives:

- * Plan to give the items to me so that I can maintain a checklist of what has been collected for the archives.
- * My contact information is ldallas@austin.utexas.edu; 512.346.6830 (home), and 512.495.4503.

Thank you,
Larayne Dallas
Branch Archivist

MAINSRING SCHOOLS LUNCHEON

On May 24 AAUW Austin is hosting its annual Teacher Appreciation Luncheon for the faculty and staff of Mainspring Schools. The luncheon will be from 12 noon until 3 p.m. in the dining area of the school (1100 West Live Oak). Branch members are asked to prepare a main dish, a vegetable, a salad, or a dessert.

I would appreciate members' help in preparing food or with serving the staff.

LATINITAS, GIRLSTART & MORE

March and April have been filled with volunteer opportunities supporting young girls. As mentioned in the last newsletter, we had two workdays at Girlstart to help them prepare for the annual “Girls in STEM Conference” which was held this year at Travis High School.

At our April 12th meeting, we heard from three groups: the four National History Award winners Kavya, Maanasa, Priya, and Smrithi (Title IX and Voting Rights Act); Rudi Andrus, director of Mainspring School, and the Mainspring scholarship awardee Jennifer Garcia; and the founder and COO of Latinitas, Laura Donnelly Gonzalez.

We just rounded out April by assisting at the Latinitas spring mini-conference “Business Chica” which was held at Capital Factory on the 16th floor of the Omni Hotel. Mentors assisted the girls to develop the business plans of their dreams, and present them for competition before a panel of judges from the Austin business community.

Mine, Lilac, Larie, Mary Ellen at Business Chica

Thanks to Larie Amsler, Mary Ellen Scribner, and Mine Tafolar for handling the registration checkin and all the ‘front desk’ duties for the group. Mary Ellen and I also picked up girls at two of the schools to bring them to the conference. When the AAUW Four realized there was no coffee available for the many adult coaches, judges, and volunteers such as themselves, they paid for a coffee setup from the hotel which was greatly appreciated by all who had come expecting coffee to be available! Laura is working with AISD to develop a busing plan for next year!

Coming up this summer are summer camps at both Girlstart and Latinitas. I have a sign-up sheet for the Latinitas camps for the dates listed below, which can be one morning or afternoon of volunteering as adult chaperone, or presenting a short program (45 minutes) on the topic of the week if it is in an area in which you have expertise.

Business Chica at the Capital Factory

Both Girlstart and Latinitas have a summer scholarship program, and you can contact them directly to make a contribution for that specific program. And both nonprofits each have a website where you can register as a volunteer to work on individual projects: latinitasmagazine.org or girlstart.org. Summer Camps 2014 were at the new Latinitas Center, 4926 E. Chavez St. (512.900.0304). There are two shifts each day: 9 a.m.-12 noon and 1-4 p.m.

- * Cine Chica <> July 7 through July 11 (Lilac and Mine so far)
- * Gamer Chica <> July 14 through July 18
- * Fashion Forward <> July 21 through July 25
- * Healthy Chica (Body and Soul) <> July 28 through August 1 (Sylvia Garcia)

EQUAL PAY PRESENTATION

On April 24th, members of the Austin Branch were joined by others from AAUW-TX in an Equal Pay presentation on the south steps of the Capitol. Jeanne Best, President of AAUW-TX, from Abilene, gave an overview, followed by talks by the co-chair of the Austin League of Women Voters; AAUW Director-at-Large Malinda Gaul, from San Antonio; and the Community Services Director of the Texas Democratic Party. A more comprehensive article will be published in the next newsletter.
